DETAILED ACTION

The amendment filed on October 22, 2001, canceling claims 19-62 and adding claims 83-111, has been entered.

Claims 1-18 and 63-111 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group III (claims 63-82) in Paper No. 10 is acknowledged.

Claims 1-18 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 10.

Priority

Applicant has not complied with one or more conditions for receiving the benefit of an earlier filing date under 35 U.S.C. 120 as follows:

An application in which the benefits of an earlier application are desired must contain a specific reference to the prior application(s) in the first sentence of the specification (37 CFR 1.78).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Art Unit: 1652

Claims 63-111 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to a non-statutory subject matter. Claims 63-111 read on a product of nature. This rejection can be overcome by amending claims 63-111 as "An isolated galactose oxidase", for example.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 63-111 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

Claims 63-111 are drawn to a genus of mutant galactose oxidase, from any source and with any structure. The specification teaches one representative species, mutant galactose oxidase of Dactylium dendroides or Fusarium NRRL 2903. One representative species is not enough to describe the whole genus and there is no evidence on the record of the relationship between the structure of a D. dendroides galactose oxidase and the structure of a galactose oxidase from another source. Therefore, the specification fails to describe other representative species of the genus of galactose oxidases.

Art Unit: 1652

Given this lack of description of the representative species encompassed by the genus of the claims, the specification fails to sufficiently describe the claimed invention in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms that a skilled artisan would recognize that applicants were in possession of the inventions of claim 63-111.

Claims 63-111 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for the mutant galactose oxidase from D. dendroides, does not reasonably provide enablement for mutant galactose oxidase of unknown structure. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the invention commensurate in scope with these claims.

Factors to be considered in determining whether undue experimentation is required are summarized in In re Wands 858 F.2d 731, 8 USPQ2nd 1400 (Fed. Cir. 1988). They include (1) the quantity of experimentation necessary, (2) the amount of direction or guidance presented, (3) the presence or absence of working examples, (4) the nature of the invention, (5) the state of the prior art, (6) the relative skill of those in the art, (7) the predictability or unpredictability of the art, and (8) the breadth of the claims.

Despite knowledge in the art for the isolation of amino acids, the specification fails to provide guidance regarding how to isolate other galactose oxidase whose sequence is not homologous to the galactose oxidase from D. dendroides. Therefore, the breadth of these claims is much larger than the scope enable by the specification.

Art Unit: 1652

The predictability as to the level of conservation between the disclosed sequences and those of other galactose oxidase is extremely complex. While recombinant techniques are available, it is not routine in the art to screen large numbers of amino acids where the expectation of obtaining similar sequences is unpredictable. The amino acid sequence determines the structural and functional properties of an enzyme. Knowledge of which sequences can be altered or removed and still result in similar protein activity is well outside the realm of routine experimentation.

Therefore, one of ordinary skill would require guidance in order to make mutant galactose oxidase of unknown structure in a manner reasonable correlated with the scope of the claims. Without such guidance, the experimentation left to those skilled in the art is undue.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 63-111 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 63-111, without the recitation of the SEQ ID NO, it is unclear in which sequence V is at position 494, for example.

No claims are allowed.
